JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY indites a poem beginning: "He called her in from me and shut the door." One need not read further to find that the poet was left out in the cold; but why confess it this publicity?

The fact that the presentation of "The Chimes of Normandy" in bloomer costume in Minneapolis was greeted by a $2,000 value is a fine testimonial to the value of judicious advertising. It required printer's ink to make such an enterprise a blooming success.

HENRY M. STANLEY is now gravely charged with having been profane while in Africa. When he received the reports from that rear column he was justified in using very strong language, and few people will care to count the oaths against him.

NEW YORK police authorities are perhaps disposed to hustle a little every time they recall their criticisms of the London bobbies in their efforts to catch Jack the Ripper. Inspector Byrne now has a little John the Eveviscerator to deal with himself.

ANNA DICKINSON, in an address in New York completely settled the question of her sanity. She is off balance mentally. No sane woman could or would talk as she talked before that audience of ladies and gentlemen.

The statement in a New York paper that $250,000 a month is extorted from the New York public force as a corruption fund is a monument to the shamelessness of the New York paragoner or a sad commentary upon the municipal life of America's metropolis.

The London News deprecates "the United States' lack of sympathy with Italy's patriotic anguish." The easiest way for Italy to avoid "patriotic anguish" of the present sort is to execute her own Italian murderers hereafter instead of exporting them to America.

Mrs. BERNHART's disdain for Fanny Davenport is something lofty. She artfully expresses the hope that Miss Davenport is not only as great an actress as her admirers represent her to be, but that she is equal to her own estimate of herself. This is withering.

PRINCE BISMARCK led at the Westminster election, but under the German law there must be a secondary election, an absolute majority being required. Germany and Connecticut ought to emerge from the majority rule in elections and adopt the plurality plan now common in this country.

It is now reported that Emperor William intends to have a German edition of the World's Columbian Exposition to be held in Berlin immediately after the close of the latter in Chicago in 1893. If this should be true it behoves the German emperor to do all in his power to make the world's fair a success.

The English census shows that prisoners are the healthiest abodes in the country and that workhouse life insures a ripe, old age. At one workhouse it was found that nearly three-fourths of the inmates were over sixty, thirty-three women and twenty-one men were between eight and ninety; two women over ninety.

ANOTHER member of New York's 400 has written a book on etiquette in which, among other things, the statement is made that no man may lay any claim to social standing in Gotham should have fewer than eight overcoats. This tends to confirm the popular impression that many members of the 400 do not know enough to go in when it rains.

A CANADIAN paper says of the children sent out by charitable societies in England: "They are as a rule the most stupid, useless, slothful, or in fact any other household, that a human being can be. They are sent out, for the most part, without any training or knowledge of the country to which they are going, and in very many cases never do learn the habits, customs or work of the country."

ROME seems to have suffered severely from the great powder explosion at Pozzo Panico, the chief loss in property being the destruction of or damage done to famous old buildings and stained glass windows of art and historic interest. This is a loss not to Rome alone but to the world at large, for the works of the great masters of past ages are in one sense common property.

WHILE the late Prince Sanjo, of Japan, Keeper of the Great Seal, lay on his deathbed, the Emperor came to him, read an address recognizing the dying noble's splendid services, and raising his faithful friend to the highest rank to which it was possible to elevate him, Prince Sanjo, who had been unable to move a muscle for some time, thereupon raised his head and folded his hands in the Japanese fashion to show his gratitude. He then became unconscious and died the same evening.

THE attention of the tony diplomats of Italy should be called to an episode which occurred in Kenton, O., a few days ago. A native-born American, who was in jail at that place for murdering a policeman, was taken out by some other native-born American citizens and hanged. He didn't have an Italian ancestor, and he probably wouldn't have been hanged even if he had.

A pocketbook containing a large sum of money was found in a nation but at a criminal. Let Rudin ponder this incident.

Report of the Grand Jury Investigating the Italian Affair at New Orleans.

None of Those Connected With the Summary Punishment of the Italians Indicted.

NEW ORLEANS, Special Telegram, May 7.—In the report of the grand jury investigating the Italian affair at New Orleans none of those connected with the summary punishment of the Italians were indicted. The affair characterized as the result of a popular uprising of the people. Detective O'Malley and five of his henchmen indicted for the bribery of jurors.

AN IMPORTANT ORDER.

Bona Fide Settlers Can Cut Timber on Government Land.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Congressman Carter to-day issued an important circular letter of instructions to registers and receivers of land offices in regard to the act of March 1891, which relates to the cutting of timber on the public land.

The sections apply only to Colorado, Montana, Idaho, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wyoming, Nebraska, Utah, and Nevada. The circular says that the settlers on the public lands, miners, farmers and other bona fide settlers who have not a sufficient supply of timber on their own claims or lands for firewood, fencing or building purposes, or for necessary use in developing their lands, may cut timber on the public lands owned or occupied by them, are permitted to procure timber from the public lands for sale or disposal, or use on other lands or for other purposes. The law is construed to mean that no settler is to be cut on any appropriated or reserved public land.

The cutting or removing of timber from public lands by or for any applicant before the act of March 1891, is prohibited. The act of March 1891, which is now in force, prohibits the cutting of timber from the public lands by or for any applicant before the act of March 1891, is prohibited. The act of March 1891, which is now in force, prohibits the cutting of timber from the public lands by or for any applicant before the act of March 1891, is prohibited.

They are sent out for the most part without any training or knowledge of the country to which they are going, and in very many cases never do learn the habits, customs or work of the country."

BORE seems to have suffered severely from the great powder explosion at Pozzo Panatelo, the chief loss of the city being the destruction of or damage done to famous old buildings and stained glass windows of art and historic interest. This is a loss not to Rome alone but to the world at large, for the works of the great masters of past ages are in one sense common property.

WHILE the late Prince Sanjo, of Japan, Keeper of the Great Seal, lay on his deathbed, the Emperor came to him, read an address recognizing the dying noble's splendid services, and raising his faithful friend to the highest rank to which it was possible to elevate him. Prince Sanjo, who had been unable to move a muscle for some time, thereupon raised his head and folded his hands in the Japanese fashion to show his gratitude. He then became unconscious and died the same evening.

THIS attention of the tony diplomat of Italy should be called to an episode which occurred in Kenton, O., a few days ago. A native-born American, who was in jail at that place for murdering a policeman, was taken out by some other native-born American citizens and hanged. He didn't have an Italian ancestor, and he probably would have been hanged even if he had been an Italian. Like the New York case, it was a plain case of a public execution, not at a nation but at a criminal. Let Rudini ponder this incident.

NOTES ON A REBUKE

None of Those Connected With the Summary Punishment of the Italian Defendants.

NEW ORLEANS, Special Telegram, May 7.—In the report of the grand jury investigating the Italian affair at New Orleans none of those connected with the summary punishment of the Italians were indicted. The affair characterized as the result of a popular uprising of the people. Detective O'Malley and five of his henchmen indicted for the bribery of jurors.

TURNER HEARD FROM

First News From the Surveyor Sent to Alaska.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—The first letter to reach this city from Henry Turner, assistant in the United States and geodetic survey, since his departure for Alaska, has been received by Prof. George Davidson.

Mr. Turner was in charge of a party of ten which was to co-operate with a similar party under the command of Mr. McGee, in the exploration of the Yukon river, terminating the location of the 141st meridian, the boundary line between Alaska and British Columbia. The party was composed of Mr. Turner, Mr. McGee, Mr. Michael, Sept. 20, 1880, and was entrusted to the care of the Wells party, by whom it was brought to this city.

Discoveries of Mr. Turner in his travels are very interesting. His observations will cause a change in the map of the country between the Yukon and the coast. The party found rivers, lakes and mountain ranges where before was supposed to be a vast wilderness.

Incidentally Turner refers to the experience of Mr. McGee, who was forced to take a detour from the Yukon river, and to the discovery of a new river, 100 miles from the Arctic coast, and 100 miles from the mouth of the Yukon river.

Horribly Mangled.

On Monday morning the section crew who work west from the city found the remains of a man strewn along and under the east end of the Mississippi railroad bridge. The body was picked up and taken to Losey & Dean's, where it was recognized to be that of Martin Devery, who had been in the employ of Backus & Co., a Minneapolis lumbering firm, during the winter. Devery had come out of the woods the day before and the last seen of him alive was near the Last Turn saloon where he told a companion he was going to the depot to catch a train. He had been drinking and it is supposed he fell off and was crushed to death. The body was prepared for burial and sent to Minneapolis where it is said he has a family.

An Excellent Play.

Denman Thompson and Geo. Iver, the authors of "The Two Sisters," have turned out a great play. They have, so to say, cut out a small slice of the real world and put it on the stage for the people to look at, depicting its shadows and heightening its lights just enough, and only just enough, to keep it from seeming flat and colorless under the glow of the footlights. "The Two Sisters" is a good play. It is a play everyone should see. It entertains every moment; it touches the best emotions of human nature, and it teaches more than one lesson of life more impressively than the best sermon ever preached. It makes the run of "The Old Homestead" in New York, and the commendation that play has received from press, pulpit and people thoroughly intelligible.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

"The Two Sisters" will be presented at the opera house on Wednesday evening, May 13th, and merits a full attendance. The press, the pulpit and the public everywhere speak in the highest terms of it.

We have just received some fine novelties in dress trimmings and would be pleased to show you.

The Fish Commission.

Brainerd has been fortunate in securing a member of the State Game and Fish Commission, a body created by the recent legislature, in the person of A. F. Ferris, who was recommended by the Brainerd Gun Club and the citizens generally. The commission met in St. Paul on Tuesday and organized, with Dr. Sweeney, of Duluth, as president; W. S. Timberlake, vice-president; A. F. Ferris, secretary; W. P. Andrus, treasurer. Frank L. Stetson, of Minneapolis, was appointed game warden. The new law in regard to fish was discussed and certain sections referred to the attorney general, and as soon as a decision is rendered the board will take steps to control the matter. Mr. Ferris was fortunate enough to draw the six year term. The next meeting will be held June 1st.

The Two Sisters.

The first act is a half hour of merriment, the second act a short melodrama in a rare picture representing the summer sunshine; the third act a novel and prettiest kind of a love scene, and the last act a pathetic human little comedy drama. Tears, laughter and applause cannot but get intermingled before such a wholesome complete exhibition of the tenderest and most natural bond of human sympathy.—The Standard Union. At the opera house, Brainerd, Wednesday evening, May 13th.

The City to Support Them.

The members of Co. K, of this city, are feeling somewhat jubilant over the fact that the recent legislature passed a bill which compels the cities in which military companies are located to support them. The law provides that whenever it shall appear by the certificate of the commander of the regiment or battalion to which any company, organized under the provisions of the General Laws of the State of Minnesota (the military code), and the amendments thereof, belongs, that such battery or company has reached the minimum number of enlisted men who regularly attend the drills and parades of such battery and company, the commanding officer of the regiment or battalion, the mayor and the treasurer of the city, town or village, or where there is no mayor, then the proper authorities of the town or village in which such battery or company is located, shall constitute a board to erect or rent, within the bounds of such city, town or village, for the use of such battery or company, a suitable or convenient armory, drill room and place of deposit for the safe keeping of the arms, uniforms, equipments, accoutrements and camp equipage furnished under the provisions of this act. And whenever, in the opinion of the officer in permanent command or in permanent charge of any armory, the same shall be unfit for the use for which it is designed, he may make complaint in writing thereof to said board, which board shall forthwith examine into the condition of such armory and shall have power thereupon to direct the alteration, repair, enlargement or abandonment of the same, and is case of abandonment, to provide another suitable armory. The expenses of altering, repairing, enlarging or renting armories, purchasing lands for the erection of armories, and for providing the necessary camp stools, apparatus and fixtures for heating and lighting and the fuel and gas or oil for the same, and water closets in such building, and for the proper preserving from injury the arms, equipments, uniforms and records stored therein by the construction of suitable lockers, closets, gun racks and cases for uniforms, equipments, arms and records, and for the maintenance thereof in good and safe repair, shall be a portion of the charges of such city, town or village, and shall be levied, collected and paid in the same manner as other city, town or village charges are levied, collected and paid.

The law also provides that a junior shall be appointed who shall care for the armory, and in case it is heated by steam, an engineer, the compensation for such person, not to exceed $2 per day for actual time, and that he shall be paid monthly and be a charge upon the city, town or village in which said armory is situated.

The cost of maintaining Co. K will probably not exceed $400 a year, and as soon as things can be adjusted the city will be asked to either build or rent them a suitable place. The roller rink has been used by them and with some internal improvements can be made suitable for their use and satisfactory to the officers. Should the company desire to have new quarters, and the city be obliged to build, the expense entailed will be quite heavy.

Horribly Mangled.

On Monday morning the section crew who work west from the city found the remains of a man strewn along and under the east end of the Mississippi railroad bridge. The body was picked up and taken to Losey & Dean's, where it was recognized to be that of Martin Devery, who had been in the employ of Backus & Co., a Minneapolis lumbering firm, during the winter. Devery had come out of the woods the day before and the last seen of him alive was near the Last Turn saloon where he told a companion he was going to the depot to catch a train. He had been drinking and it is supposed he fell off and was crushed to death. The body was prepared for burial and sent to Minneapolis where it is said he has a family.

An Excellent Play.

Denman Thompson and Geo. Iver, the authors of "The Two Sisters," have turned out a great play. They have, so to say, cut out a small slice of the real world and put it on the stage for the people to look at, depicting its shadows and its heights, its lights just enough, and only just enough, to keep it from seeming flat and colorless under the glow of the footlights. "The Two Sisters" is a good play. It is a play everyone should see. It contains every moment; it touches the best emotions of human nature, and it teaches more than one lesson of life more impressively than the best sermon ever preached. It makes the run of "The Old Homestead" in New York, and the commendation that play has received from press, pulpit and people thoroughly intelligible.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

"The Two Sisters" will be presented at the opera house on Wednesday evening, May 13th, and merits a full attendance. The press, the pulpit and the public everywhere speak in the highest terms of it.

We have just received some fine novelties in dress trappings and would be pleased to show you.

The Fish Commission.

Brainerd has been fortunate in securing a member of the State Game and Fish Commission, a body created by the recent legislature, in the person of A. F. Ferris, who was recommended by the Brainerd Gun Club and the citizens generally. The commission met in St. Paul on Tuesday and organized, with Dr. Sweeney, of Duluth, as president; W. S. Timberlake, vice-president; A. F. Ferris, secretary; W. P. Andrus, treasurer. Frank L. Stetson, of Minneapolis, was appointed game warden. The new law in regard to fish was discussed and certain sections referred to the attorney general, and as soon as a decision is rendered the board will take steps to control the matter. Mr. Ferris was fortunate enough to draw the six year term. The next meeting will be held June 1st.

The City to Support Them.

The members of Co. K, of this city, are feeling somewhat jubilant over the fact that the recent legislature passed a bill which compels the cities in which military companies are located to support them. The law provides that whenever it shall appear by the certificate of the commander of the regiment or battalion to which any company, organized under the provisions of the General Laws of the State of Minnesota (the military code), and the amendments thereof, belongs, that such battery or company has reached the minimum number of enlisted men who regularly attend the drills and parades of such battery and company, the commanding officer of the regiment or battalion, the mayor and the treasurer of the city, town or village, or where there is no mayor, then the proper authorities of the town or village in which such battery or company is located, shall constitute a board to erect or rent, within the bounds of such city, town or village, for the use of such battery or company, a suitable or convenient armory, drill room and place of deposit for the safe keeping of the arms, uniforms, equipments, accoutrements and camp equipage furnished under the provisions of this act. And whenever, in the opinion of the officer in permanent command or in permanent charge of any armory, the same shall be unfit for the use for which it is designed, he may make complaint in writing thereof to said board, which board shall forthwith examine into the condition of such armory and shall have power thereupon to direct the alteration, repair, enlargement or abandonment of the same, and is case of abandonment, to provide another suitable armory. The expenses of altering, repairing, enlarging or renting armories, purchasing lands for the erection of armories, and for providing the necessary camp stools, apparatus and fixtures for heating and lighting and the fuel and gas or oil for the same, and water closets in such building, and for the proper preserving from injury the arms, equipments, uniforms and records stored therein by the construction of suitable lockers, closets, gun racks and cases for uniforms, equipments, arms and records, and for the maintenance thereof in good and safe repair, shall be a portion of the charges of such city, town or village, and shall be levied, collected and paid in the same manner as other city, town or village charges are levied, collected and paid.

The law also provides that a janitor shall be appointed who shall care for the armory, and in case it is heated by steam, an engineer, the compensation for such person not to exceed $2 per day for actual time, and that he shall be paid monthly and be a charge upon the city, town or village in which said armory is situated.

The cost of maintaining Co. K will probably not exceed $900 a year, and as soon as things can be adjusted the city will be asked to either build or rent them a suitable place. The roller rink has been used by them and with some internal improvements can be made suitable for their use and satisfactory to the officers. Should the company desire to have new quarters, and the city be obliged to build, the expense entailed will be quite heavy.
